

Project Report

Wakil Nooristany and James Jee

Starting off during phase 3, we had a lot of trouble figuring out how to implement the necessary functions in the JDBC java code. For example, when inserting a function it took a me(wakil) a while to figure out how to specifically code up in the way that they want it to be coded. Furthermore, I ran through a lot of trouble connecting the database to the sql database but eventually we figured all that out. I think the hardest part of the project would have to be the triggers that we implemented. Fortunately, we had a lot of time to figure it out and it went very well. After going through this process, our code works 100% well and is running smoothly.
